Restore Education is launching a $4M sustainable growth campaign to support the purchase of the Learning Excellence Center, (D1) home base, and the expansion of services into San Antonio's Eastside, due to student-driven demand.

For 15 years, Restore Education has been dedicated to transforming lives of individuals, their families, and our community through education. We believe that education should be free, flexible, and available for all who are willing to work hard to achieve their dreams. We offer a continuum of services from basic literacy and English language learning to high school equivalency, career training, and college support. equivalency, career training, and college support.

VISION

Our vision for the new Eastside campus is to bring quality and value to a community that is used to receiving second-hand. We are restoring a building that was once office to State Rep. Barbara Gervin Hawkins -- a building that stood as a staple in the community. We are restoring this building to its original glory and ensuring it is something that Eastside residents will be proud to walk through and graduate from.

With a listening tour underway and continued community convening, Restore Education is prioritizing the needs of the community and voice of our students in shaping the curriculum that will be central to the Eastside campus. With endless opportunities to fill the workforce gaps of San Antonio, Restore Education has partnered with City of SA Ready to Work, United Way, Alamo Workforce Solutions, Alamo Colleges, and more. We are meeting with corporate partners on the Eastside and learning about their workforce gaps so that we can fill those needs with qualified Eastside residents and graduates of Restore Education.

We also recognize the many barriers to education. We hope that moving into the neighborhoods with the largest demand will also remove the barrier of transportation. In addition, we continue to partner with our 100+ community agencies to provide assistance with housing, food, mental health care, childcare, and workforce attire.

HOW WE SERVE MATTERS...

According to San Antonio's Equity Atlas, the Eastside neighborhood holds some of the most promise with vibrant culture and opportunity, yet it ranks as a "10" in services rendered for people of color in our community. Restore Education realizes the importance of the opportunity to disrupt generational inequities that have established the Eastside as the "underserved" neighborhood it is today.

Restore Education has proven its ability to meet student needs through wraparound support and collaboration with key local service providers like Workforce Solutions Alamo, Ready to Work, United Way, the Texas Workforce Commission, and so many more. By addressing gaps in traditional learning and providing a hybrid (virtual and in person) classroom setting, Restore Education has been able to successfully serve 17,000 students. That means 17,000 individuals are now making a living wage and working one job (as opposed to 3) -- changing the generational trajectory of what is possible and achievable.

Restore Education centers serve families who have an equity score of 7-10 (as shown in the dark and light purple) according to The City of San Antonio's Equity Atlas, an interactive tool that highlights the demographics, disparities and some infrastructure distribution within the city.

Restore Education partners with over 120 nonprofit, corporate, and community partners to ensure access and transportation are never barriers to achieving educational dreams. The markers noted on the right are specific Restore Education campuses or sister sites through partner agencies.

MEET AMY...

Amy, a single mother of 3 boys, was desperate for change. After completing rehab, she made some radical changes in order to support her children and set a positive example. Now, she is thriving as a college student! Your gift can impact more families like Amy's, our neighbors, and our community.

"Restore Education supported me every step of the way and I am now a certified Phlebotomist! My children have been inspired to achieve their wildest dreams because of my journey -- I am forever grateful."

-Amy D.
